

- 1. Which term describes an occurrence of two or more cases of the same symptoms after consumption of the same food?
 - a. Foodborne illness
 - b. Foodborne illness outbreak
 - c. Foodborne illness disease
 - d. Foodborne complaint

- 2. Which symptom of foodborne illness is uncommon?
 - a. Diarrhea
 - b. Bloody diarrhea
 - c. Jaundice
 - d. Fever

- 3. Which of following is specifically a symptom of a bacterial toxin?
 - a. Blurred vision
 - b. Jaundice
 - c. Vomiting
 - d. Diarrhea

- 4. Serious foodborne illness may cause brain damage.
 - a. True
 - b. False

- 5. Only one case of which illness is considered a foodborne illness outbreak?
 - a. Salmonellosis
 - b. Perfringism
 - c. Botulism
 - d. Listeriosis

- 6. Which of the following is not a CDC foodborne illness risk factor?
 - a. Improper cooling procedures
 - b. Improper cooking temperatures
 - c. Poor employee hygiene
 - d. Food from unsafe sources

- 7. Approximately one in how many Americans will get sick from food poisoning this year?
 - a. Four
 - b. Six
 - c. Eight
 - d. Ten

8. Why are infants and young children more at risk for foodborne illness?

- a. Their immune systems are still developing
- b. They stick their hands in their mouths all of the time
- c. They eat different foods than adults
- d. The people who spoon feed them do not wash their hands well enough

9. What would be the best choice to serve at a luncheon for the elderly?

- a. Sushi
- b. Crackers and cheese, including Brie, feta, and queso fresco
- c. Veggie plate and hummus, including carrots, celery, and tomatoes
- d. Homemade chicken salad sandwiches with alfalfa sprouts

10. What is a substance created by plants or animals that is poisonous to humans called?

- a. Histamine
- b. Allergen
- c. Bacteria
- d. Toxin